

CARDS, SIGN, AND PHOTOS

We provide participating libraries with printed and visual agenda cards, a sign, and a photo release form in the first box.

Visual Agenda Cards Pages 6-15

To give your audience a glimpse of what to expect in your storytime, use visual agenda cards. They can help ease anxiety or uncertainty and help kids manage expectations. If kids know what is happening next, they are more likely to participate and engage in the storytime.

Photocopy the cards on pages 6-15 or use the download link to print. Blank cards are included for you to create new tasks. Download more visual agenda cards.

Optional: Laminate the cards to make them more durable. Tape each card, in order of use, to a wall or board. You can even add hook and loop tabs to the back to be used on a felt board. As you complete an action, remove the card from the timeline so participants can follow along.

Sign Page 16

We ask that you please display the enclosed sign prominently during storytimes where you are utilizing the materials provided in the program. Displaying this sign is a part of the Memorandum of Understanding signed by your library to participate in this program. Download more signs.

The Memorandum of Understanding requires photos of storytime events using these materials be shared with us, which we then share with the project donors. All photos provided to Idaho Public Television must accompany a signed photo release form, which is included. Download more photo release forms.

A photo release form titled 'PHOTO RELEASE FORM' in a pink box. It has a header with the Idaho Public Television Education logo. Below the header is a table with columns for 'CHILD'S NAME', 'GUARDIAN NAME', 'EMAIL', 'PHONE NUMBER', and 'SIGNATURE'. There are several rows for entries. To the right of the table is a checkbox labeled 'I agree to have my child's name and photo used in promotional materials for Idaho Public Television.' and a checkbox labeled 'I agree to have my child's name and photo used in promotional materials for the project donors.' At the bottom, there is a paragraph of legal text.
