66 Stories

A picture is worth a thousand words; or in this case, 66 stories. In celebration of the 100th anniversary of Route 66, 2892 Miles to Go and Blank Spaces team up to capture and tell the stories of 66 lives that impacted and were influenced by the mother road and present them in the form of a mural.

Panhandle PBS tells the story of the making of that mural and how it impacts and strengthens the community.

The Panhandle Gives 2026 is right around the corner!

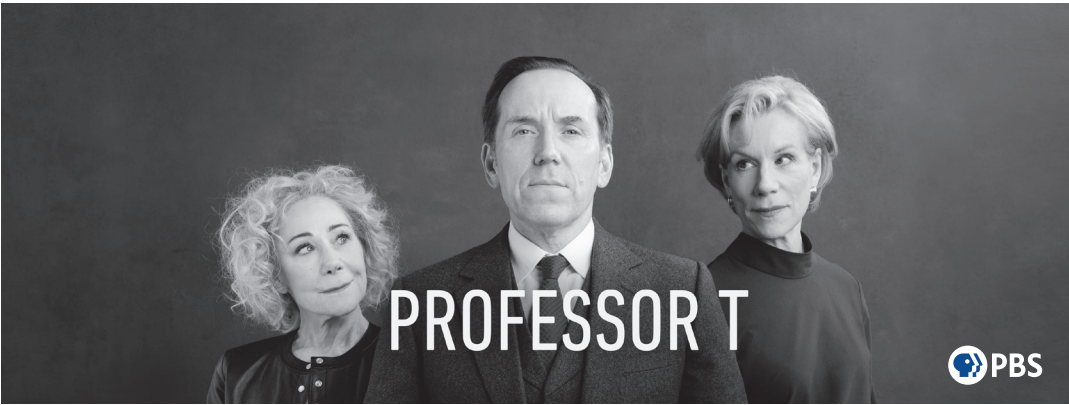

Panhandle PBS is proud to participate in The Panhandle Gives 2026, a nine-day charitable giving event hosted by the Amarillo Area Foundation that celebrates generosity across the 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle. Beginning Monday, November 23, and concluding on Giving Tuesday, December 1, this annual campaign brings our communities together to support the causes that matter most.

This year, Panhandle PBS is raising funds to help keep PBS programming on the air for the communities we serve across the Texas Panhandle. Our goal: $1,000 a day for 150 days of programming. For approximately $1,000 a day, Panhandle PBS can provide the national, local, and children’s programming that informs, empowers, and brings families together. Every contribution helps keep trusted storytelling, educational resources, and meaningful programming available to our neighbors across the region. Together, we can help keep PBS on the air—because our community deserves access to the programming it loves.

Learn more and donate during the campaign, November 23 – December 1, by visiting <https://www.thepanhandlegives.org/organization/panhandlepbs>

From the Vice President

Hello to all our fantastic Panhandle PBS Members,

Our mission to remain strong this past year, while feeling the great impact of the loss of federal funding, has been a challenge we have not taken lightly. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your continued support. Your generosity and commitment, now more than ever, make it possible for us to bring trusted, inspiring, and entertaining programming to our community all year long.

You make Panhandle PBS possible, and you help make the Panhandle a better place to live. We’re so grateful to have you as part of the Panhandle PBS family and look forward to sharing all the great programming PBS has in store this fall and throughout the holiday season.

Thank you for believing in the power of local public television and for being there with us every step of the way!

Best Wishes,

Kevin Ball

Kevin Ball, CEO, Panhandle PBS
Vice President of Communications and Marketing, Amarillo College

From the General Manager

Dear Friends and Supporters of Panhandle PBS,

In last month's letter, I shared that as Panhandle PBS moves forward, we need your continued support, but we also need your voice.

That idea has stayed with me.

Your membership supports the station, but your voice helps guide its impact. It helps us understand what this region needs from its public television station, which stories deserve to be told, what conversations need to happen, and how Panhandle PBS can be more useful, visible, and connected across the Texas Panhandle.

That connection matters now more than ever.

Public media is facing a very different environment following the loss of federal CPB support. Panhandle PBS is entering this moment from a position of stability, thanks to careful planning, prior-year savings, and the generosity of members like you. But the next few years will require us to be focused and intentional as we strengthen local support.

We cannot simply replace one source of funding with another. We need to build broader support from the people, businesses, foundations, and community partners who believe Panhandle PBS matters to this region.

That begins with relevance.

In a crowded media landscape, people have more choices than ever. Panhandle PBS must be clear about the value we provide. We bring trusted national programming into homes across the Panhandle, but we also do work that is deeply local. We tell local stories. We support education and lifelong learning. We create opportunities for children and families. We highlight arts, culture, history, and regional identity. We help connect people to one another and to the place we all call home.

As we look ahead, our strategic priorities will help guide the station's next steps. They focus our work around financial sustainability, local and regional storytelling, lifelong learning and workforce connections, community engagement and public trust, arts and culture, and stronger organizational alignment.

But strategy only matters if it connects to people.

That is why I hope you will continue to tell us what you see, what you value, and what you believe Panhandle PBS can do better. Your support helps keep the station strong. Your feedback helps make it better.

Thank you for believing in this work and for helping us shape what comes next.

With appreciation,

Matt Franklin
