MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

Openness and Freedom

By Mare Mazur, President and General Manager, Vegas PBS

While the woody green forests of New England have Thoreau to sing their praises, and John Muir is the champion of the Sierra Nevada, we here in the American Southwest have Edward Abbey as our advocate. His classic memoir, "Desert Solitaire," is full of gems about the beauty of life in an austere climate. "The extreme clarity of the desert light is equaled by the extreme individuation of desert life forms," Abbey says. "Love flowers best in openness and freedom." This Earth Month, we encourage you to embrace the openness and freedom that time with nature provides. Learn about our planet's incredible ecosystems with us and then go out and explore the Mojave for yourself. On page 6, you'll find a great article by writer Janna Karel about our winged and four-legged neighbors in the desert. Some of them friendlier than others! On page 7, take a look at April's Science Wednesdays. Don't miss the two-part film, Our New World, on Wednesdays, April 1 and 8 at 10 p.m. This program asks: What world will we live in tomorrow as climate change reshapes the Earth? See how nature adapts with astonishing ability and how we humans can become a supporting force.

"This Earth Month, we encourage you to embrace the openness and freedom that time with nature provides."

On Earth Day, April 22, Vegas PBS presents an entire day of environmental programming for grown-ups and kids of all ages. Our PBS KIDS block features episodes of Wild Kratts and Nature Cat that teach about our planet in a fun and engaging fashion. In the evening, tune in at 9 p.m. for NOVA: Rain Bombs and then stick around for Wilding at 10 p.m. and Sage Wisdom West at 11:30 p.m.

And of course, remember you can watch entire seasons of Outdoor Nevada with your Passport access as a Vegas PBS member! It's an incredible privilege to be your source of thoughtful content about our shared planet and how we all work together to keep it beautiful for generations to come.

Since I started with an Abbey quote, allow me to close with another: "It is not enough to fight for the land; it is even more important to enjoy it." Go out and enjoy, and thank you for your support.

With appreciation,
Mare

Wildlife in Your Own Backyard

In Southern Nevada, encounters with wildlife can happen anywhere — even on a patio chair. Here are the furry and feathered visitors you may find in your neighborhood.

by Janna Karel

PHOTOGRAPHY CREDIT
John Dietrich

It was a cool spring afternoon. A pine tree cast a shadow over my backyard — and on the back of a patio chair sat a hawk. Its chest was speckled brown and white, its long tail striped gray. When it turned to peer at me, its strong beak curved as if surprised to see me.

“They were definitely here first,” Claire Clarke, the Urban Wildlife Education Coordinator for the Nevada Department of Wildlife (NDOW), says of my visiting Cooper’s hawk, “so if resources are available and they’re accessible, there’s always the potential that you could have a coyote or a rabbit or something like that come into your yard.”

Birds

Common poorwills are native to Southern Nevada — often mistaken for baby owls for their fluffy plumage and nocturnal habits. As spring settles in, hummingbirds will reappear, performing spins and dives in the air to attract mates. Larger migratory birds like raptors and Canada geese may extend their stay in Las Vegas if they find a nice place to nest.

Cooper's Hawk

Western Banded Gecko

Reptiles

In addition to native tortoises found in the area of Red Rock Canyon, neighborhood sidewalks often teem with hand-sized fence lizards in summer. And wide-eyed western banded geckos may hide in damp irrigation boxes.

Mammals

Summer nights are marked by small-faced hoary bats that choose Las Vegas as a stopover point during migration. And desert cottontails can be seen hopping between shrubs. Clarke says most of the calls she receives at her NDOW office involve coyotes, which have learned to thrive in neighborhoods.

Living With Wildlife

While we might imagine animals are happier in areas without people, Clarke says that water access, proximity to mountains and desert spaces, and new food sources create their own kind of habitats. Coyotes forage for trash and outside pet food. Cooper’s hawks like the one in my backyard feast on pigeons. Staying safe means leaving animals alone — even feeding them may train them to rely on humans. And while migratory birds may alight in Sunset Park and bighorn sheep graze at Hemingway Park, Southern Nevada wildlife may already be perched quietly in your yard. 🦉

Why We Support Vegas PBS...

Like Vegas PBS, San Manuel Gaming & Hospitality Authority and Palms Casino Resort believe deeply in the power and impact of accessible, community-focused media. The spirit of Yawa', giving from our beliefs, aligns with Vegas PBS mission of thoughtful programming that informs, educates and inspires audiences of all ages. And like our Palm Team Members volunteering 500 hours in 2025 in the Las Vegas community, PBS viewers are engaged, curious and community-minded, and we see real value in connecting with an audience that prioritizes lifelong learning and civic participation.

Supporting Public Television is more than a sponsorship; it's an investment in a trusted institution that strengthens our region. When local businesses come together to support Public Television, we help ensure that high-quality, independent programming remains available to everyone in our community.

Our Picks for April 25-30

NOVA: Return to the Moon

Wednesday, April 29 at 9 p.m.

Follow the Artemis mission to bring humanity back to the moon for the first time since Apollo.

Inspector George Gently: Bomber's Moon

Thursday, April 30 at 8 p.m.

A former German pilot returns to Northumberland to visit his former captors, now his friends.

Rick Steves' European Easter

Sunday, April 5 at 11:30 a.m.

Taking you on a journey through Spain, Slovenia, Switzerland, Italy and Greece, we celebrate the 2,000-year-old story in a variety of cultures. You'll feel the emotion of this special time as the Passion of Christ unfolds during Holy Week. We'll join Andalusians carrying parade floats, Greek priests tossing showers of flower petals and villagers blessing olive branches, plus feasting, fireworks and more. Exploring a rich and fascinating mix of traditions — from its pagan roots to its glorious finale — this program sheds new light on this timeless holiday.

Funny Woman Marathon

Sundays April 5 and 12
from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Follow Barbara Parker, a small-town beauty queen who decides to swap her pageant life for comedy television in 1960s London. After landing a TV show audition, Barbara finds that being a woman in a largely male environment has its own challenges. As she 'finds her funny' voice, Barbara redefines the prevailing attitude toward funny women while on a mission to reinvent herself.

Four Seasons for the Five Senses

Sunday, April 19 at 1:30 p.m.

Music is more than just sound; it's a multi-sensory journey. This is an innovative and electrifying reimagining of "Four Seasons," the masterpiece by Italian composer and godfather of Baroque music, Antonio Vivaldi. Coupled with captivating visuals and interactive elements, this immersive performance is unlike anything an orchestra has ever presented, promising viewers an unforgettable sensory adventure. Vivid projections and richly textured orchestration capture the beauty, drama and renewal of nature's changing seasons, while inviting audiences to see, hear and feel Vivaldi's masterpiece like never before.

Great Performances at the Met: La Sonnambula

Sunday, April 26 at 12:30 p.m.

Nadine Sierra summits another peak of the soprano repertoire as Amina, who sleepwalks her way into audiences' hearts in Bellini's poignant tale of love lost and found. In his new production, Rolando Villazón — the tenor who has embarked on a brilliant second career as a director — retains the opera's original setting in the Swiss Alps but uses its somnambulant plot to explore the emotional and psychological valleys of the mind.
