

CHARLIE'S HAPPY ZOO

Written By:
Ripley Gillespie

By
Ripley Gillespie

There was a man who had a zoo, his name was Charlie.
Everyone really liked coming to his zoo.

He had so many happy animals! Charlie loved taking care of them. There was an otter, called Cutie Patootie. She was so fun to watch. She did flips and splashes in her pond.

There was a sloth, Slow Poke, they were best of friends. Slow Poke was very slow and didn't have many visitors. The people saw that he had lots of bugs on him. They thought he was dirty. Slow Poke was sad.

Charlie didn't know what to do. He talked to Cutie Patootie. She had an idea. She told Charlie that Sloths need the bugs and the bugs need Sloths. The bugs eat the algae that grow on Slow Poke.

Charlie's Zoo was a happy place to be again!

Charlie made a sign that told all about Slow Poke. The bugs and the sloth need each other. The visitors understood and loved Slow Poke!

