

ZOO ATTACK!

by Emmett Wright

One day Dr. Zonk was working in his lab. Then he had a great idea, an evil idea. He would destroy the local zoo! But first let me describe him, or actually, let me show you.

Well here is how he's going to do it: he is going to make a special serum and feed it to one of the animals at the zoo. The serum will make it giant and it will destroy the whole zoo! So after much toiling, testing and ~~exploding~~ ~~giant~~ guinea pigs, the serum was ready. So he went to his evil car and drove to the zoo.

But when he went inside he had to wait in a long line, so he just freeze-rayed everyone. "Now I can look for an animal to feed the serum to" he said. So he started looking. Then he found the dingo's enclosure, "Perfect," he said. So he jumped over the fence onto one of the dingo's dog houses.

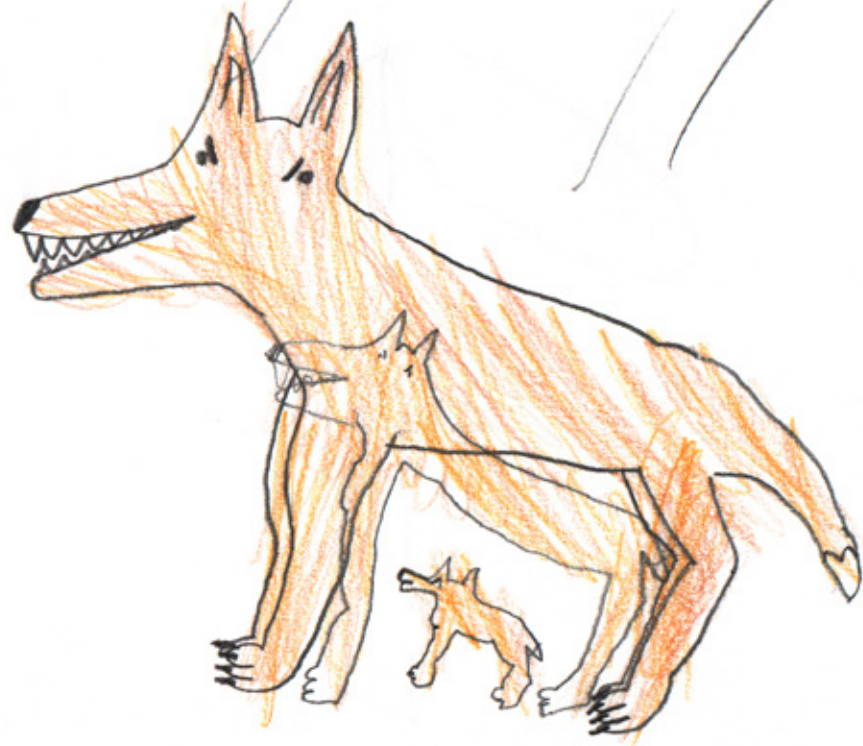

Mwah
haaaa

When he looked inside, there was a sleeping dingo in there! So he dumped the serum into the dingo's drinking bowl. Then he gently tickled the end of the dingo's nose with a stick.

Suddenly, the dingo woke up! Dr. Zonk jumped back and watched as the dingo took a gulp of "water"! Then the dingo started changing size!

Now it was the size of an elephant! Then it started running around and destroying things. It destroyed the fox's dens. It destroyed the birds' cages. It destroyed the nature ride train station. It destroyed the gift shop, but when it got to the porcupine exhibit it got some quills in its snout. So it ran back to the dingo enclosure to hide. Then it found its favorite toy. So it started rolling around with it. Then it started to shrink. So Dr. Zonk looked down at his plans and he found a note he had ignored: SOMETI-

The End
