ABOUT US

Basin PBS is a nonprofit public media station serving families, teachers, and neighbors across West Texas. For 40 years we have been a trusted source of programming. Building on that foundation, we now serve families with PBS KIDS learning, community town halls, debates, and local storytelling. We distribute free educational resources online and in person, give books to children, and create spaces where families can learn together.

We serve 19 counties with on-air, online, and in-person outreach, delivering about 200,000 weekly TV gross impressions and reaching 11,200–12,300 people in person this year. In 2024, 25,000 teachers and parents accessed 300,000+ free lessons, and 150,213 children streamed 5.7 million PBS KIDS videos. About 50% of households we serve earn $75,000 or less, so PBS being trusted, safe, educational, and free for everyone truly matters.

While we air national programs, our primary local function is service and education. We produce local shows and town halls, archive our region's history through documentaries, and meet families where they are through outreach events and learning spaces. We are also preparing a mobile classroom to reach neighborhoods that need us most.

Funding update

Federal support that previously helped sustain this work was eliminated. Last year that support totaled ~$1,000,000. Sponsorship of Main Street Live directly keeps these services free for everyone and expands our capacity to reach more children and classrooms.

Event financial snapshot

FY23 Gross $194,247.25 Net $92,812.96
FY24 Gross $208,929.67 Net $82,541.87
FY25 Gross $275,792.40 Net $88,502.14
FY26 Goal Net $350,000

Our Mission

Basin PBS uses telecommunication and broadcast media to advance education, culture, and community across the Permian Basin. We inform, inspire, entertain, and educate with programming and services of the highest quality. As a trusted, community-owned nonprofit, we belong to you, serve you, and need you. Our work strengthens the social, democratic, and cultural health of West Texas.
