The Final Issue of the Preview Magazine

With this issue, the Preview magazine reaches an important milestone: It is the final edition in its current form. For decades, Preview has been more than a program guide. It has been a colorful showcase of upcoming shows, a behind-the-scenes look at station life, and a tangible connection between KSPS PBS and our members. Many of you have told us how much you enjoy flipping through these pages, circling shows to watch, and learning more about the work your support makes possible.

Unfortunately, the loss of federal funding has forced KSPS PBS to reduce our budget by 20%. In order to protect the programs and services at the core of our mission, we must make difficult choices. Beginning in January, Preview will continue only as a very lean, black-and-white television listings booklet. While it won't include feature articles or photography, it will ensure that viewers who depend on printed schedules can still keep track of what's on air.

Many members already prefer to find schedules online at ksps.org/schedule or to stream on demand through the PBS App or PBS Passport. If you don't use the printed listings, we encourage you to let us know you'd like to stop receiving Preview in the mail. Doing so will help reduce costs and stretch your donation further to support the programs and services you care about most.

We remain deeply grateful for your generosity and trust. Thanks to you, KSPS PBS continues to connect, enrich, and inspire our communities.

NEW SIX-PART SERIES

The American Revolution

Beginning Sunday,
November 16 at 8PM/9MT

Repeats each day at 10PM/11MT, 1AM/2MT, and 2AM/3MT

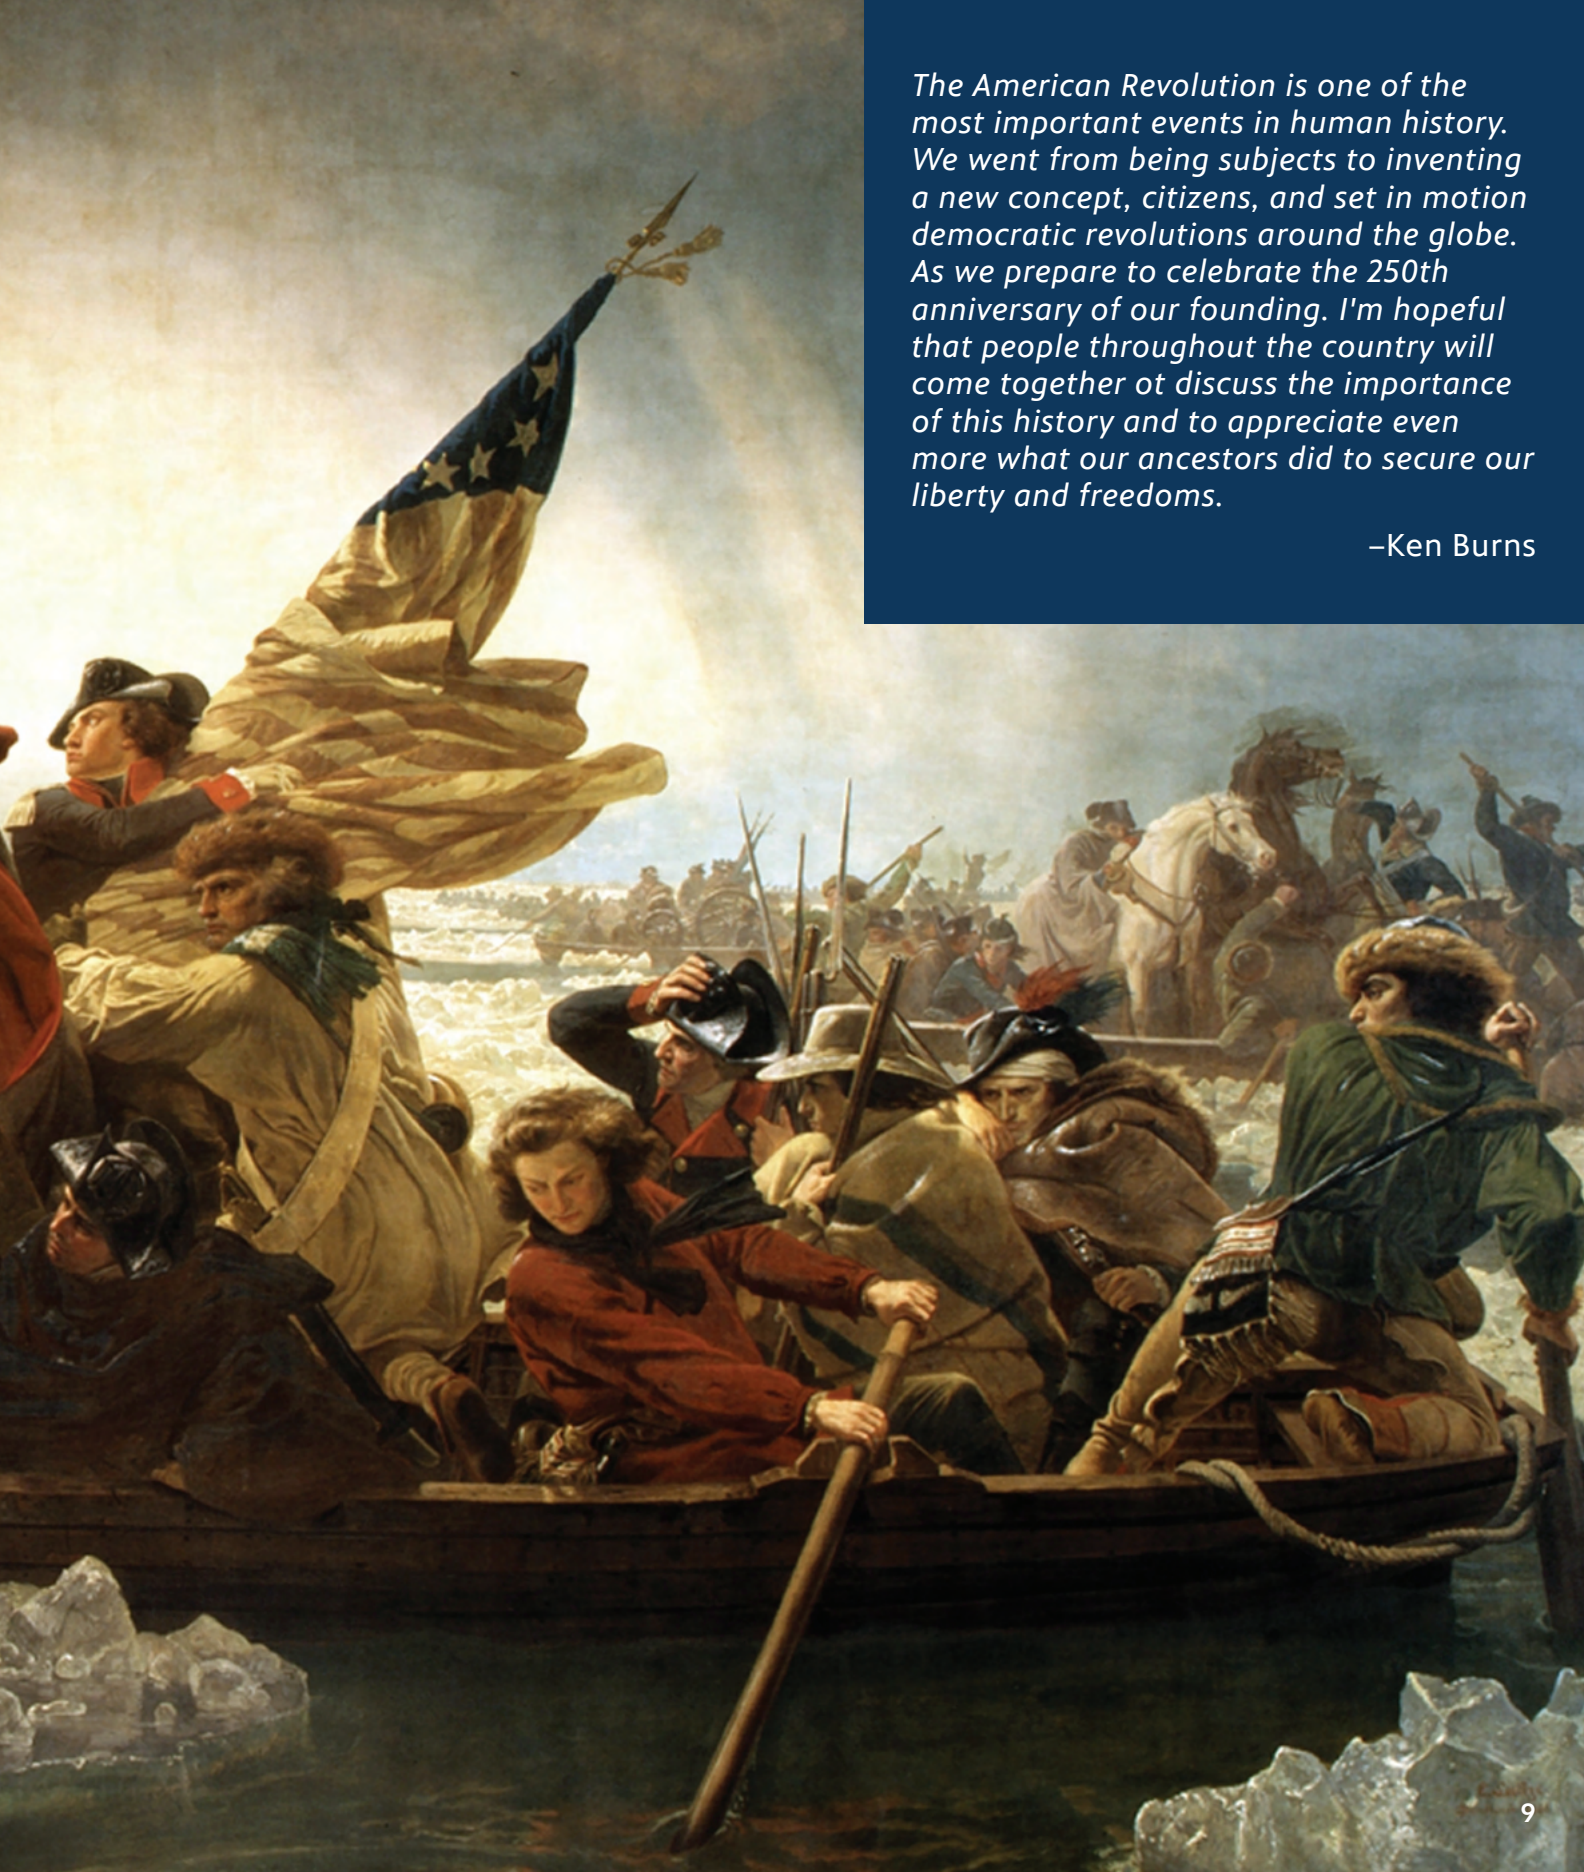

This new six-part, 12-hour documentary series explores the country's founding struggle and its eight-year war for independence. The much-anticipated series, which has been in production for eight years, was directed and produced by Ken Burns, Sarah Botstein and David Schmidt and written by long-time collaborator Geoffrey C. Ward. The premiere airing marks the 250th anniversary of the start of the war, which began in the spring of 1775—more than a year before the Declaration of Independence.

The American Revolution examines how America's founding turned the world upside-down. Thirteen British colonies on the Atlantic Coast rose in rebellion, won their independence, and established a new form of government that radically reshaped the continent and inspired centuries of democratic movements around the globe. An expansive look at the virtues and contradictions of the war and the birth of the United States of America, the film follows dozens of figures from a wide variety of backgrounds. Viewers will experience the war through the memories of the men and women who experienced it. At one time or another, the British Army occupied all the major population centers in the United States - including New York City for more than seven years. The American Revolution was a war for independence, a civil war, and a world war. It impacted millions - from Canada to the Caribbean and beyond. Few escaped its violence.

The American Revolution is one of the most important events in human history. We went from being subjects to inventing a new concept, citizens, and set in motion democratic revolutions around the globe. As we prepare to celebrate the 250th anniversary of our founding, I'm hopeful that people throughout the country will come together to discuss the importance of this history and to appreciate even more what our ancestors did to secure our liberty and freedoms.

—Ken Burns

Sunday Nights

NEW SPECIAL AIRING

The Great Escaper

Sunday, November 23 at 8PM/9MT

Repeats Mondays at 1AM/2MT

The Great Escaper tells the true story of Bernard Jordan who made global headlines in the summer of 2014. He had staged a “great escape” from his care home to join fellow war veterans on a beach in Normandy, commemorating their fallen comrades at the D-Day Landings 70th anniversary. While Bernie is on his trip to Normandy, Bernie’s devoted wife, Irene recalls their younger days and falling in love during World War II. Bernie’s story captured the imagination of the world as he embodied the defiant, “can-do” spirit of a generation that was fast disappearing. But of course, it wasn’t the whole story. It was an inspirational but sanitized retelling of one man’s need to come to terms with the lasting trauma of war.

A Letter From KSPS PBS

Dear Friends,

As 2025 comes to a close, I find myself reflecting on what an extraordinary year it has been for KSPS PBS and for all of us who care deeply about public media. Together, we’ve navigated enormous changes, from the joy of new local programs and community events to the sobering challenge of losing nearly 20% of our budget when federal funding was rescinded this summer.

Through it all, one truth has been constant: our members (Viewers Like You!) are the lifeblood of this station. Your generosity and trust are what make it possible for KSPS PBS to deliver fact-based news, inspiring arts, transformative education, and vital emergency services across the Inland Northwest and into Western Canada. You’ve ensured that we remain a trusted neighbor and a resilient community partner.

As we enter this season of gratitude and generosity, I want to invite you to consider making an additional year-end gift. Every contribution, large or small, adds up to real impact. It helps keep children learning, families inspired, and neighbors informed. And in times like these, that mission feels more urgent than ever.

On behalf of the entire KSPS PBS team, thank you for standing with us, for believing in what public media represents, and for being the reason our story continues.

Skyler J. Reep, MSNPA, CFRE (he/him)
Interim KSPS PBS General Manager
Also serving as Director of Development
