Becky and Carey Bringle of Peg Leg Porker

FOR THE LOVE OF NASHVILLE —AND BEYOND

Becky Magura
President & CEO of Nashville PBS

“IT’S FOOTBALL TIME IN TENNESSEE!” Those iconic words from announcer John Ward evoke powerful memories of our state’s rich heritage and culture. Recently, for the season opener of Clean Slate, I had the good fortune to speak with Carey Bringle, Owner and Pitmaster of Peg Leg Porker, about Tennessee traditions and the true meaning of community.

I loved this interview for many reasons—one being that Carey identifies as fiscally conservative and also a fan of public television. We had a great conversation about Channel 8 being his station and how the show he grew up with positively impacted his life. He also emphasized how important TENNESSEE CROSSROADS has been for small businesses across our state.

It reminded me that—especially in a time when everything seems to be in question—two things can be true at once: You can be fiscally conservative and still love public television. That has been the spirit of my career, and I’m grateful to meet others who know the national narrative doesn’t always reflect who we are in Nashville or across Tennessee PBS.

Honestly, I’m still processing the recent announcement about the shut-down of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB). It’s almost unthinkable that, on the eve of our nation’s 250th birthday, we would deliver such a devastating blow to an institution that truly belongs to the people.

I’ve spent my entire professional life in public service. Through PBS and our local stations, we have delivered world-class educational content that informs, inspires, and amplifies voices from all walks of life—including the beautiful rural communities I once served at WCTE, and now at Nashville PBS. I am deeply grateful for this calling.

I’m incredibly proud of our work. But without the critical support and stewardship of CPB—and the foundational federal funding it provided—so much is now at risk. For decades, our national investment in public broadcasting has produced tremendous returns. PBS has remained educational, nonpartisan, noncommercial, and truly public media.

Federal funding came in the form of a Community Service Grant, administered and evaluated by CPB to ensure that every dollar was spent wisely and with direct benefit to local communities. On average, each federal dollar leveraged an additional seven dollars in funding from other sources. That’s an extraordinary return on investment—by any measure.

In this moment of reflection, I invite you to judge our work based on the service we provide to this region. Please look past the national noise and focus on what we do here, day in and day out. We have no motive other than public service. Our commitment is to you, our fellow citizens.

My hope is that we can move beyond this fight and stand as “one nation under God” to protect what is right and good—what was built to uplift society and serve the greater good. We will stand with PBS and our fellow public media stations in Tennessee and across the country. And we ask for your support—your voice, your financial contribution at any level, and your commitment to a nation that remains “indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.”

Our republic depends on unity. And with that unity, we will continue to advocate for the restoration of federal funding for public media.

It’s important to remember that generations of Americans learned to read thanks to public television. And that’s just the beginning. Our work has always centered on families and children, but it extends into every corner of lifelong learning—from science and history to the arts and literature.

Programs like ANTIQUES ROADSHOW, TENNESSEE CROSSROADS, and VOLUNTEER GARDENER are just a few examples of how we celebrate our past and present, and serve our communities with purpose. Your personal federal tax investment—just $1.60 per year—helped make all of that possible. And now, that modest but mighty investment is gone.

But we aren’t going anywhere.

Nashville PBS remains fully committed to serving this region with compassion, empathy, and purpose. We belong to you—the public—and we will continue to honor that mission. We are one of the last locally owned and governed media organizations, focused on education, community connection, and public safety through emergency alerting.

Let’s stand together with PBS and continue to deliver on our mission—for our country, for our children, and for the generations to come.

Thank you for reading. Thank you to Carey Bringle and the team at Peg Leg Porker for welcoming us and sharing your story.

And thank you to all of you who are stepping up with increased financial support during this critical time—especially those making a special gift for Nashville PBS’s 63rd birthday, celebrated the week of September 7–13! It will be a week of honoring our legacy in local storytelling and celebrating new ventures—like our live coverage of Americana Fest, in partnership with WMOT Roots Radio. Now is the time to fund the future.

Finally, as CPB begins the process of winding down with the elimination of federal funding, I want to express my deepest appreciation to CPB President and CEO Patricia De Stacy Harrison, the entire CPB team, and its Board of Directors. Their decades of service have made a meaningful difference in the lives of millions of Americans. Thank you.

I believe that our country, with its advanced economy and democratic values, will eventually realign with other developed nations and reinvest in public media.

Nashville PBS is not going away. We will stand together, work together, and deliver on our promise to be the public’s media.

Trusted. Tried. True. That’s Nashville PBS—today and always.

A MESSAGE FROM
Perri duGard Owens
Chair of the Nashville PBS
Board of Directors

Dear Friends and Supporters of Nashville PBS,

Nashville is a city of dreamers, innovators, and storytellers—and Nashville PBS embodies that spirit more than ever. We stand at a critical crossroads, but instead of seeing challenges, we see an extraordinary opportunity to redefine public media right here in Music City.

In fact, our commitment to you has never been stronger.

We are actively reimagining how we serve our community, exploring innovative partnerships, and developing creative strategies that will make Nashville PBS more dynamic, more responsive, and more impactful than ever before. We're not just adapting—we're charting a bold new path on how public media connects, educates, and inspires. From our award-winning local documentaries to our groundbreaking educational programs, we've always been more than just a television station. We're a community partner, a learning hub, and a trusted voice that amplifies the stories that matter most to Nashville.

Now, we're doubling down on that mission with bold new approaches that will bring our community closer together.

Just as Nashville's musicians constantly reinvent themselves, we're tuning our own approach. We're developing strategies that will not only sustain us but position Nashville PBS as a beacon of innovation for public media nationwide. Collaborative models, digital expansion, and community-driven content are just the beginning of our exciting journey.

This is where you come in. Your support has always been our lifeline, and now more than ever, we need you to be part of our vision. We're not asking you to just watch—we're inviting you to help us create something extraordinary.

Together, we will rise. Together, we will innovate. Together, we will continue to make Nashville brighter, more informed, and more connected.

With boundless gratitude and determination.

HOW WILL YOU BE REMEMBERED?

Marianne Monoc, Nashville PBS Chief Development Officer

Legacy in many ways symbolizes our life, values, and dreams. Whether we hope to be remembered as a caring parent, a trusted friend, a loving spouse, a concerned citizen, or even a philanthropist, we all wish to make a positive, and hopefully lasting impact on the world.

Many of our dedicated supporters have chosen to advance the values that are most important in their lives by providing a charitable gift to Nashville PBS through their estate plan.

Regardless of the size of the gift, or how it's made — via beneficiary designation, in a will or trust, or through a charitable gift annuity — you can provide funding to help support our mission and advance our work, as well as your personal charitable goals, for many years to come.

If you've ever watched one of our local programs or read about our educational literacy work and thought, "I wish I could do more," especially in today's difficult economic times, you can! By including Nashville PBS in your will or trust (a gift that costs nothing up front), you can play a meaningful role in helping us to achieve our vision of creating meaningful connections through experiential engagement and programming that inspire a vibrant, inclusive community throughout Middle Tennessee.

For more information about how to designate Nashville PBS as a beneficiary of your estate, please contact me at mmonoc@wnpt.org or 615-687-9948. You can also visit our website (wnpt.org/support-npt/planned-giving/) and take advantage of complimentary access to Giving Docs, a safe and secure tool to create your will and other essential documents.

Thank you for your dedication to keeping public media accessible, independent, and free for all.

Becky Magura Honored with Silver Circle Award

Nashville PBS proudly congratulates our President and CEO, Becky Magura, on her induction into the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATAS) Silver Circle. This prestigious honor recognizes individuals who have dedicated 25 or more years of service to television and media, leaving an indelible mark on the industry and the communities they serve.

The Silver Circle is one of the highest distinctions in broadcasting, awarded to leaders who have made enduring contributions to the vitality of the industry while setting standards of excellence for others to follow. Candidates are recognized not only for their professional achievements but also for their service to the community and their commitment to guiding and inspiring future generations of media professionals.

Becky's career has been defined by this very spirit. From her start in public media to her leadership today at Nashville PBS, she has championed storytelling that connects, educates, and uplifts. Her dedication to serving audiences, mentoring colleagues, and strengthening public media embodies the very values celebrated by the Silver Circle.

We are honored to see Becky's remarkable career recognized on a national stage, and we look forward to continuing to build on her vision and leadership at Nashville PBS.

The Caverns Sessions Season 14

Series Premieres, Sat, Sept 6 at 6:30pm

This magical, "musical adventure" series is taped in the subterranean amphitheater of The Caverns in Tennessee's majestic Cumberland Mountains, and features both established and emerging artists within a broad spectrum of genres.

Sept 6 – Shane Smith & The Saints

American roots music that's influenced by country, folk, and roadhouse rock & roll.

Sept 13 – Shakey Graves

Shakey's music combines blues, folk, country, and rock and roll.

Sept 20 – Ruby Waters

A Canadian singer/songwriter who mixes raw, bluesy alt-rock with folk and pop.

Sept 27 – Violent Femmes

The band mixes a special blend of teenage angst, jittery folk-rock, and punk sensibilities.

Oct 4 – Bronwyn Keith-Hynes

Hynes is an extraordinary Grammy-winning bluegrass fiddler and vocalist.

Oct 11 – The String Cheese Incident

An energetic jam band influenced by a wide range of music genres.

Oct 18 – Armchair Boogie

Bluegrass at full throttle, infused with the energy of a jam band and the swagger of rock 'n' roll.

Oct 25 – Oak Ridge Boys

An iconic American country and gospel music group, known for their distinctive four-part vocal harmonies and energetic performances.

Becoming Thurgood

Series Premiere Sun, Aug 24 at 7pm

This is the story of Thurgood Marshall, the visionary lawyer and civil rights leader who became the first Black justice on the United States Supreme Court. Drawing from rare archival recordings, personal photographs, and exclusive interviews, the film offers an intimate and timely portrait of a man who reshaped American democracy.

The film traces Marshall's journey from his birth in Baltimore, Maryland, in 1908 to his formative years at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) Lincoln University and Howard University School of Law to his groundbreaking career as a lawyer championing civil rights and dismantling segregation.

Marshall won 29 of the 32 cases he argued before the U.S. Supreme Court, including the landmark Brown v. Board of Education in 1954, invalidating the "separate but equal doctrine" and ending racial segregation in public schools. But the decision was met with "massive resistance" across the South and continued to be fought in the courts for decades.

In 1967, Marshall became the first African American appointed to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court. He served for 24 years and retired in 1991.

"To those of us who know the struggle is far from over, history has another lesson," said Marshall. "It tells us how deeply rooted habits of prejudice are, dominating the minds of men and all our institutions for three centuries, and it cautions us to continue to move forward, lest we fall back."

The Big Cats 24/7 Season 2

Series Premieres, Wed, Sept 10 at 7pm

In Season 2, a team of wildlife filmmakers continues to use the latest filming technology to put you right inside the everyday lives of the Okavango Delta lions, leopards and cheetahs. They bring us back into the center of the action, with many of our favorite cats taking on new roles and responsibilities. How will these lions, leopards and cheetahs fare with the ever-changing demands and threats in their ecosystem?

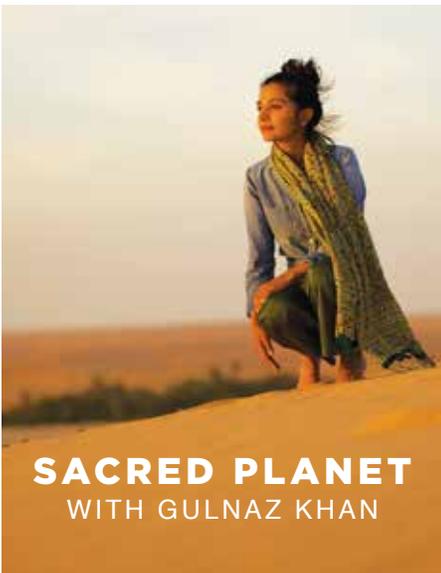

The stakes are even higher as new cubs bring added challenges. For the Xudum Pride, there are now more than 40 members, making it the largest pride in the world. This leads to increased competition for food.

The dominant male lions of the Xudum Pride, Big Toe and Madumo, are absent for long stretches, leaving the pride vulnerable to male intruders. Lioness Tsebe struggles to find enough food for her large litter of cubs. Meanwhile leopard mother Lediba must protect her cubs from potentially deadly encounters with male leopards. Similarly, cheetah mom Pobe has two young cubs to protect and feed. The series also introduces new characters, including an intruding male lion named Golden Boy, adding to the drama and tension within the pride's territory.

The Okavango Delta experiences dramatic environmental shifts, including wildfires and floods, which force the big cats to adapt and overcome new challenges. Take a captivating and emotional journey into the lives of these magnificent animals as they navigate a challenging yet dynamic environment.

Sacred Planet With Gulnaz Khan

Series Premiere Wed, Sept 10 at 9pm

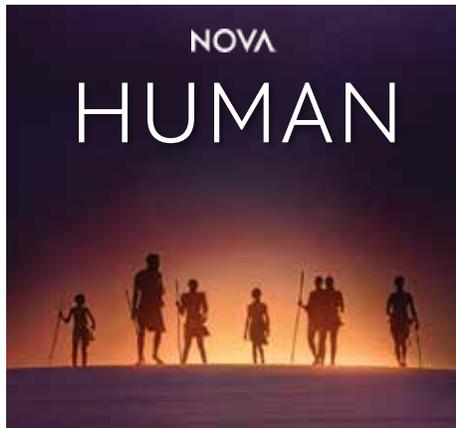

SACRED PLANET WITH GULNAZ KHAN is a four-hour series hosted by environmental journalist and TED Climate Editor Gulnaz Khan. Truly cinematic in its approach, the series was filmed in Africa (Mauritania, Senegal and Ethiopia), Japan, Colombia and Peru, and is a deeply personal and often troubling examination of how climate change is impacting some of the most hallowed places on the planet. At the same time, it's also a powerful account of how faith leaders worldwide are seeking to mitigate the worst consequences of the climate crisis.

Sept 10 – The Heart of the World
Journey to the sacred world of the Arhuaco people, carriers of a vital message for humanity.

Sept 18 – Stopping The Desert
Muslims and Christians join forces with scientists across Africa's Sahel, refining traditional practices that promise to hold back the Sahara and its shifting sands, and save communities.

Sept 25 – Saving the World's Forests
Venture to Japan with Gulnaz, where global warming is upending centuries-old Shinto and Buddhist traditions. As ancient shrines and temples face rising challenges, they also inspire new paths in reforestation and conservation

Oct 1 – Reclaiming Peru's Glaciers
Gulnaz follows the ancient Inca and modern Catholic paths confronting the Andes' deglaciation. These spiritual traditions unite through engineering, pilgrimages, lawsuits, and prayer to face Peru's climate crisis.

NOVA: Human

Series Premiere Wed, Sept 17 at 8pm

Follow the epic story of Homo sapiens as they outlast other human species and spread across the globe. Around 300,000 years ago, Homo sapiens emerged in Africa – one of at least seven human species alive at the time. Now, we are the only remaining human line, and our impact on the planet is undeniable.

Sept 17 – Origins
Where do we come from? Journey back to a time when multiple human species walked the earth. Discover how radical fossil finds rewrote the history of our origins. Explore the tools, language, and rituals that bound us together, and the setbacks that nearly destroyed us.

Sept 24 – Journeys
From the time humans arose in Africa, they have been on the move. Follow in our ancestors' footsteps as they travel the globe, and meet the mysterious hobbit-like humans they may have encountered along the way.

Oct 1 – Neanderthal Encounters
For thousands of years, Neanderthals thrived across Europe. Then, Homo sapiens arrived. Explore the surprising encounters between these two human species.

Oct 8 – Into The Americas
Witness our ancestors' ingenious survival tactics against formidable predators in the Americas, and see how humans transformed from nomads to living in rooted communities, forever altering our worlds.

Oct 15 – Building Empires
What caused humans to stop roaming and start building? How did we transform from a tiny, fragile population into the 8 billion strong species we are today? Discover pivotal moments that set humanity on a new path toward cities and modern civilizations.

American Experience: Kissinger, Parts 1 & 2

Mon, Oct 27 & Tues, Oct 28 at 8pm

An unlikely celebrity who drew fire from across the political spectrum, Henry Kissinger is widely recognized as one of the great American statesmen of the twentieth century.

Born in 1923 in Germany to devout Jewish middle-class parents, the young Kissinger was forced to flee Hitler's regime, settling with his family in New York City in 1938. After studying at City College, he joined the U.S. Army in 1943, serving as an interpreter and intelligence officer in Europe. Kissinger returned home in 1947 to a brilliant academic career at Harvard.

Kissinger served as a part-time foreign policy adviser to the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and was the main intellectual force behind JFK's "flexible response" strategy, which advocated maintaining both conventional and nuclear forces to respond to Communist aggression, rather than resorting to threats of nuclear retaliation.

In 1968 president-elect Richard Nixon appointed Kissinger as his national security adviser. In what Time magazine described as an "improbable partnership" between a "secretive, aloof... old-fashioned politician, given over to oversimplified rhetoric" and "a Harvard professor of urbane intelligence."

In 1973 Kissinger shared the Nobel Peace Prize with Le Duc Tho for secretly negotiating an end to the Vietnam War. When Nixon resigned in August 1974 and Gerald Ford took office, Kissinger retained his position and his influence on foreign affairs. Kissinger left office with the Ford Administration in 1977. He taught at Georgetown University and frequently appeared at a media consultant on international affairs.

MASTERPIECE MURDER & MAYHEM

Antenna Ch. 8.1; Charter Ch. 8; Comcast-Xfinity Ch. 8, 1008

Maigret on Masterpiece

Sundays, Oct 5 - Nov 9 at 8pm

Chief Inspector Maigret and his team of maverick but loyal detectives, "Les Maigrets," solve a series of complex crimes in Paris. Maigret's unconventional methods and unique sense of justice put him at odds with his superiors and the judicial system he is supposed to represent. Maigret must outwit some of Paris's most cunning and violent criminals, while dealing with his own troubled past.

Oct 5 - The Lazy Burglar, Pt 1

Maigret is investigating a series of bank robberies that have been plaguing Paris. He ignores his superior's orders and turns his attention to the brutal murder of a burglar.

Oct 12 - The Lazy Burglar, Pt 2

Maigret's decision to juggle both the robbery and the burglar's murder puts his career in jeopardy, but he continues to seek justice for the slain thief. Just as he is closing in on the killers, the bank robbers strike again.

Oct 19 - Maigret's Failure, Pt 1

Maigret and his team's search for a missing social media influencer is thrown into disarray when he is ordered to investigate death threats received by a billionaire businessman.

Oct 26 - Maigret's Failure, Pt 2

As Maigret reels from his failure to protect the billionaire, he also suffers a devastating blow in his personal life.

Nov 2 - Maigret Comes Home, Pt 1

A student is stabbed to death in the street. As the investigations proceed in different directions, Maigret digs into the killer's psychology, but his priorities suddenly shift when the Countess Sophie fears for her life.

Nov 9 - Maigret Comes Home, Pt 2

Tragedy strikes in Saint-Fiacre, shocking Maigret to the core. Maigret begins to peel back the deceit and corruption that ruined the Countess's life. Back in Paris, Maigret's conversations with the killer have unintended and terrifying consequences.

The Gold on Masterpiece

Sundays, Oct 5 - Nov 9 at 9pm

In 1983, six armed men broke into the Brink's-Mat security depot near London's Heathrow Airport, and inadvertently stumbled across gold bullion. What started as a typical armed robbery became a seminal event in British criminal history. Inspired by extensive research and interviews with some of those involved in the events, and starring Hugh Bonneville, THE GOLD is a pulsating dramatization which takes a journey into a 1980s world to tell this extraordinary and epic story for the first time in its entirety.

Oct 5 - Episode 1

Six armed men steal £26m worth of gold from the Brink's-Mat security depot and set about trying to dispose of the bullion. DCI Brian Boyce sets up a task force to investigate.

Oct 12 - Episode 2

The criminals create a system to smelt the Brink's-Mat gold and sell it back into the market with the profits being laundered. Jennings and Brightwell make a breakthrough in the case.

Oct 19 - Episode 3

The task force set up surveillance on Noye and are led to Palmer and more of the suspects. A police raid ends in tragedy in Noye's garden.

Oct 26 - Episode 4

Palmer learns he is wanted by the police. Cooper and Parry's plan to move cash across Europe is a success. Noye's murder trial comes to a dramatic conclusion.

Nov 2 - Episode 5

Palmer is finally caught after attempting to escape to Brazil. The police learn that Cooper and Parry have been laundering the Brink's-Mat millions. Cooper is arrested but Parry escapes.

Nov 9 - Episode 6

Some of the criminals are found innocent and others are convicted, but the police realize the gold was split after the robbery. Their investigation must continue in Season 2.

FIRING LINE WITH MARGARET HOOVER

WORLD Ch. – Saturdays at 3:30pm; Main Ch. – Sundays at 12:30pm

FIRING LINE WITH MARGARET HOOVER is a refreshing reprisal of William F. Buckley's iconic PBS program, a smart, civil and engaging contest of ideas. The series maintains the character of the original, providing a platform that is diligent in its commitment to civility and the rigorous exchange of opinion. This show comes at a time when meaningful discourse is needed more than ever. Interviews and debates will highlight leading lights from the left and right, complemented by archival footage from the original FIRING LINE to remind viewers of long-standing conservative and liberal arguments, where they've been disproved or reinforced over time. It is an opportunity to engage in the debate about the America that we want to create for the 21st century — and summon Americans of every political persuasion to a rigorous examination of the choices we must make together in the challenging years ahead.

WEATHER HUNTERS, a new animated STEM series for viewers ages 5-8 from Al Roker Entertainment (ARE), the production company helmed by Al Roker, Emmy-winning weatherman and host from TODAY. The new show is designed to support kids' learning about Earth science and meteorology through adventure and comedy to cultivate their awareness, curiosity, and caring about how weather and climate impact individuals, communities, and our global society.

Each 22-minute episode follows the adventures and explorations of weather detective and force of nature Lily Hunter and her family. Lily's dad, Al, is the fun-loving, beloved host and weathercaster of a long-running TV program (any similarity to actual Al Roker is purely intentional!). Dot, Lily's multitasking mom, is producer of the family's weathercasts, while Corky, is an 11-year-old budding documentarian who loves capturing exciting weather events on video. Rounding out the Hunter family is Benny, the five-year-old brother who is always drawing or painting something he has seen during the family's weather adventures.

The Hunters' primary goal is to learn as much as they can about weather to benefit the community and the planet by solving weather mysteries, sharing vital information, and encouraging stewardship of the environment.

The inventively animated stories feature stunning natural weather phenomena, giving the series a unique, contemporary, and original look. WEATHER HUNTERS will explore kid-relatable, STEM-based themes and activities, showcasing the wonder and science of weather in ways that are accessible to all learners.

Among the key topics are observing and tracking weather patterns, investigating the weather at different times of the year and in different places around the world, and the connection between weather, humans, and their environment. Digital content for kids, parents, and teachers will launch in tandem with the series to reinforce the show's messages and encourage further engagement and learning, with the first game from the series allowing kids to create their very own weather reports.

Nashville PBS Honored with Generations United Media Award

Nashville PBS is proud to announce that our documentary GRANDPARENTS RAISING GRANDCHILDREN, part of the AGING MATTERS series, has been awarded the 2025 Generations United Media Award. The honor was presented during the Global Intergenerational Conference in Louisville, KY., on June 26.

Presented on behalf of the Generations United Board of Directors, this prestigious award recognizes outstanding media professionals who have made significant contributions to fostering intergenerational understanding. In their announcement, Generations United commended the film's "powerful narrative that highlights the essential role of kin caregivers in keeping families together," and praised its lasting impact on both national and local conversations around grandfamilies.

The documentary was produced by Shawn Anfinson, Nashville PBS' Managing Senior Producer, who accepted the award on behalf of Nashville PBS.

The project was made possible by a dedicated creative team, including Taylor Pray(editor), with videography support from Paul Mojonier and Armondo Moralez.

You can watch GRANDPARENTS RAISING GRANDCHILDREN anytime on the PBS app or on our website.

VIEWERS LIKE ME SUPPORT

Nashville PBS

Public television stations like Nashville PBS are facing serious challenges due to funding cuts. Today, I joined Miranda Cohen and the team at Nashville PBS to talk about the role that shows like Tennessee Crossroads play in giving exposure to local artists like me. In 2023 Tennessee Crossroads featured my exhibit, Pink Charcoalatte, a multi-year project focused on breast cancer awareness.

Pink Charcoalatte is a collection of over 50+ drawings and stories featuring women who have been affected by breast cancer (including me).

Public television stations like Nashville PBS are such an important part of the community. What can you do to support your local PBS station? We cannot afford to lose these programs. Support your local PBS station today.
