You'll want to make sure you don't miss anything as we kick off fall and all new seasons of your favorite PBS shows.

To celebrate America's 250th anniversary, we are featuring Presidential documentaries Nixon: American Experience and American Experience: FDR, along with Prohibition from Ken Burns and a preview of his new film, The American Revolution. We also have a new title, Becoming Thurgood: America's Social Architect, about the life and legacy of this visionary lawyer and civil rights leader who became the first Black justice on the U.S. Supreme Court. Nixon: American Experience* airs September 3rd at 8 PM. American Experience: FDR and Becoming Thurgood: America's Social Architect air September 10th beginning at 8 PM.

Carolina Collectibles is an Antiques Roadshow experience, Carolina-style. Discover local treasures and fascinating stories with PBS Charlotte's Annual Carolina Collectibles. Ready to find out what's in your attic? Join us on October 18th for the next Carolina Collectibles and find out if you've been holding onto a hidden treasure. The popular 8th annual Carolina Collectibles airs September 8th at 8 PM.

Our Think Thursday lineup comes in with a roar with another season of Big Cats 24/7, as the series takes us back to Botswana, one of Africa's last wildernesses. NOVA brings us Human, a cinematic five-part series taking viewers back in time 300,000 years to learn about the impact humans have had on our planet. We also have a four-part series, Sacred Planet with Gulnaz Khan, an environmental journalist who travels the world to look at indigenous, faith-based solutions to climate change. Big Cats 24/7* premieres September 11th at 8 PM, with Sacred Planet with Gulnaz Khan airing later that night at 10 PM. Human premieres September 18th at 9 PM.

The MASTERPIECE fan-favorite Sherlock returns to Saturdays, starting with A Study In Pink. A modern-day Sherlock Holmes teams up with former Army doctor John Watson to solve a case of serial suicides. Using his deductive skill, Sherlock corners a killer who has mysterious powers over his victims. Benedict Cumberbatch and Martin Freeman star in Sherlock. Sherlock* airs September 6th at 9:30 PM.

PBS Charlotte has you covered with great programming all month long.
